SENATE BACKS BONUS VETO BY SMALL MARGIN

Sustains Official Action by Four Votes After House Overrides President

AGITATED SINCE 1919

Compensation Legislation Must Wait Until Next Session in December

(By the Associated Press) Washington, Sept. 21.—For a third time the soldiers' bonus legislation has failed of enactment.

The Senate late yesterday sustained President Harding's veto of the Fordney-McCumber bill, the vote of 28, failing four short of the two-thirds majority that would have been necessary to have made it a law without the executive's signature. Five hours before the Senate acted, the House overrode the veto 258 to 54.

The action of the Senate makes impossible veterans' compensation legislation at least until the next session of congress, which will begin early in December. Meantime it is the purpose of some proponents to continue the fight and the bonus may become an issue in some of the congressional and senatorial campaigns this fall.

The first bonus bills were introduced in the House and Senate early in the special session of the sixty-sixth congress, which began May 19, 1919.

INJUNCTION ARGUMENTS NEARLY DONE

Decision on Continuing Rail Writ Expected Late Today

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Judge James H. Wilkerson this afternoon deferred decision on the government's bill for a temporary injunction against the railroad strikers until Saturday and continued the restraining order now in effect until that time.

In effect the court told the attorneys, the extension is a temporary injunction as the restraining order itself expires tonight at midnight.

Judge Wilkerson said the delay would give him time to study the evidence further.

He set Saturday morning at 11 o'clock as the time for his decision.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Attorneys for the railroad strikers closed their final arguments against Attorney General Daugherty's bill for a nation wide injunction at 11:30 o'clock this morning and Assistant Attorney General A. A. McLaughlin began the summing up for the government.

Judge James H. Wilkerson was expected to decide today whether the nation-wide strike of railway shopmen can be legally regarded as a conspiracy in restraint of interstate commerce, and to determine the extent to which he believes the federal government is justified in going to restrict strike activities.

Closing arguments in the Daugherty injunction case were begun today and Judge Wilkerson's ruling was expected to follow the temporary restraining order extended ten days ago, expires at midnight.

Although Attorney General Daugherty and his legal aides had made no indication of any intention to recommend modification of the order, predictions were made by persons who have watched the proceedings closely that some of the drastic clauses of the writ would be toned down in the injunction which the government attorneys would ask Judge Wilkerson to sign.

Strike settlements made while the hearings progressed had no apparent effect up to today on the attitude of Attorney General Daugherty and his aides towards the injunction. They hammered in their charges of widespread conspiracy of violence and destruction to cripple railroad transportation.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—When Mr. McLaughlin concluded Attorney General Daugherty read the proposed injunction to the court.

Virtually the only difference between it and the temporary restraining order now in effect, the government's attorneys said, is in the list of persons named.

ONE BODY SHORT IN MINE DISASTER

Jackson, Calif., Sept. 21.—One body was missing today among those of the 47 gold miners who perished from gas nearly a mile down in the Argonaut shaft. By a whim of fate, it was the body of William Fessel, the man who wrote on the rock with the spoke of his miner's lamp, a farewell message for all the doomed 47.

Fessel wrote: "Gas getting bad. 3 o'clock." It was hoped to find Fessel's body today. The men from the bureau of mines were certain, that they counted 47 bodies when, last Monday night, the gruesome discovery was made. They believed that Fessel's body was buried by a cave-in since the work of removal began.

LAW RULES OUT TESTIMONY IN TIERNAN CASE

Much Evidence in South Bend Triangle Episode Not Admissible

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 21.—Direct examination of Prof. John Tiernan, husband of Mrs. Augusta Tiernan, who charges Harry Poulin with the paternity of her ten months old child, will be continued by Prosecutor Floyd Jellison when hearing of the case is resumed here today. Examination of Tiernan, which was begun Tuesday has been marked by lengthy interruptions during arguments by contending counsel.

Most of yesterday and part of Tuesday's session was taken up with wrangling by the attorneys over the admissibility of testimony concerning the marital relations between the professor and his wife during a period before the child was born. The testimony finally being ruled out by Judge Ducomb, on the ground that the law prohibited the husband giving such testimony in case of the character of the present one.

Chief points brought out in the examination of Professor Tiernan were a denial by him of the paternity of the child and the assertion that Poulin admitted to him the parentage and asked to make a settlement of the case by offering to pay the expenses of accouchement. He also told of frequent absences of his wife from home ostensibly to attend church. Mrs. Tiernan previously had testified that she was with Poulin during these absences. He told that Poulin showed unusual attentions to Mrs. Tiernan at dances and parties which the two families attended together. Another incident related by the witness was a meeting on the street with Poulin shortly after the baby was born. Tiernan said when he informed Poulin of the birth of the child, the latter turned away with scarcely a word, strode quickly away.

Mrs. Mae Poulin, wife of the defendant and witness for the state, will probably follow Tiernan on the stand today. Although subpoenaed by the prosecution, she has maintained throughout a staunch belief in her husband's innocence. Only a few more witnesses remain to be called and officials indicated that hearings may be ended at today's session.

VIOLATION OF MINIMUM WAGE LAW CHARGED

Warrants were issued today for the arrest of three Bismarck business men on charges of violation of the minimum wage law, the suits being brought by States Attorney F. E. McCurdy on request of S. S. McDonald, representing the bureau. One employer was charged with failing to pay the minimum wage scale and with working a woman more than 48 hours a week and seven days a week. The other two employers were charged with violating the eight-hour law.

It is expected that the cases will be carried through all the courts.

"Father of Rocky Mountain Park" Dies Suddenly

(By the Associated Press) Denver, Col., Sept. 21.—Eugene Mills, the naturalist and author, died at his home at Long's Peak, Colorado, early today.

Mr. Mills retired as usual at his home last night. He awakened early this morning, called his wife and complained of feeling ill. He died a short time later. Overwork and loss of strength following an accident in a subway car in New York last January, are believed to have caused his death.

Mills was familiarly known as "the father of Rocky Mountain National Park." In addition to conducting Long's Peak Inn, known to tourists all over the country, Mr. Mills wrote extensively for leading magazines and was the author of many books, having to do with bird, wild flower and scenery protection and the development of national parks. He also wrote of animal life. He had climbed Long's Peak, one of the loftiest in the Rockies, more than 300 times.

BEAUTY CONTEST WINNER

No wonder Miss Ruth Jane Bradshaw of Denver, Col., smiled! She has just been declared the winner in a magazine beauty contest. Miss Bradshaw is just 18 and has won several beauty contests. She plans breaking into the movies.

"MYSTERY HOUSE" IN HALL CASE FAMILIAR PLACE TO WOMAN WHO TELLS UNCANNY STORY

New Brunswick, Sept. 21.—"The house of mystery" that stands on a knoll on the old Phillips farm over which the crumpled tree beneath which the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and his choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills were found slain last Saturday was brought forcibly back into the picture today by an uncanny story told by Mrs. Charles Amedee de Russy one time playmate of the slain rectors' widow, and resident for 16 years in the ramshackle building.

Mrs. de Russy said she had visited the old homestead last June with a woman friend, whose name she refused to divulge. This woman, she said, pointed the identical tree under which the bodies were found with the comment: "This would be an ideal place for a murder."

GRAIN GROWERS SALES COMPANY INCORPORATED

Producers Sales Company Starts with Initial Capital Of $25,000

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 21.—Articles of incorporation for the U. S. Grain Growers Sales company of Minneapolis, a producers' sales agency, were filed with the secretary of state here today.

The agency which will maintain office in Minneapolis in charge of R. H. Hagen of Lakerville, Minn., will market grain for farmers of Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana who have signed contracts with the U. S. Grain Growers, officials said.

The company has an initial capital stock of $25,000.

SCOTTISH RITE SESSION ENDS

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 21.—New York City was selected as the place for holding the next convocation of the Supreme Council of the Thirty-Third Degree, Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite of the Northern Masonic Jurisdiction of the United States of America at the closing session here today. The date of the next convocation was not announced.

MRS. INMAN, WIDOW OF SLAIN MAN, GOES TO IOWA

Amidon, N. D., Sept. 20.—Mrs. Walter Inman of Amidon, whose husband was fatally wounded last March by a bullet alleged to have been fired by David McCutcheon, Slope county farmer, who faces trial for first degree murder, left a few days ago for Leon, Iowa, where she plans to live with her parents. Late today she will return as a witness for the state when McCutcheon's case is called, which probably will be at the November term of Stark county district court.

PRAISE FOR TARIFF BILL FROM HARDING

As He Signs McCumber-Fordney Act, Says It Points Progress in Tariff Making

LEADERS ARE PRESENT

Chairmen of Senate and House Committees Attend Ceremony of Signing

(By the Associated Press) Washington, Sept. 21.—President Harding today signed the tariff bill of 1922, making the new rate effective at midnight tonight.

The bill was signed shortly after 11 o'clock in the President's office in the presence of Chairman McCumber of the Senate Finance Committee, Chairman Fordney of the House Ways and Means Committee, a number of House members, and others.

Remarking that the measure has been "long in the making," President Harding, after he had affixed his signature with a pen presented to him by Mr. Fordney, who said he intended to keep it as a souvenir, said that "if we succeed we will succeed in making effective the classic provisions of this bill, this will prove the greatest contribution toward progress making in a century."

REDUCTION OF GRAIN RATES TO BE ASKED

Further Cut for Western Territory to be Sought by N. D. and Other States

North Dakota will become a party to a general plea for reductions in grain rates in western states, V. E. Smart, traffic manager for the state railroad commission, said today upon his return from a conference in Kansas City and from St. Paul.

Several western states, including North Dakota, will join in an amended complaint along the same lines as a complaint made by the Kansas railroad commission with the Interstate Commerce Commission, alleging that since lowering of grain rates on July 1, 1921, conditions have changed so that further reductions should be ordered and applied to states west of the Mississippi river to the Rocky Mountains and part of Illinois and Wisconsin.

The theory on which the complaint will be made, Mr. Smart said, is that reports of railroads show a continued increase in earning power which indicate that by the time the Interstate Commerce Commission hears the case the railroad will be earning above a 5% percent return; that the farmer of the western states because his prices are controlled by a world market has been harder hit than any other class of people and therefore should be given first benefit in further rate reductions.

L. J. BEMIS ARRAIGNED ON BAD CHECK CHARGE

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 21.—L. J. Bemis was arraigned before Justice H. F. Miller yesterday on a charge of writing between $200 and $300 worth of checks on various banks in North Dakota in which he had no funds. His preliminary hearing was set for Friday and in default of $1,000 bail he was committed to the county jail to await his hearing.

NEW FUTURES REGULATION BILL SIGNED

President Harding Approves Capper-Tincher Bill in Its New Form

EFFECTIVE NOVEMBER 1

Bill Is Designed to Meet Objections Raised in the Supreme Court

Washington, Sept. 21.—The Capper-Tincher bill providing for regulation of trading in futures on grain markets was signed today by President Harding.

The new act which became effective November 1, was passed by congress as a substitute for the regulatory provisions of the futures trading act of 1921, which provisions were declared inoperative by the supreme court. It follows along the same lines as the act of 1921, except that it is based on the power of congress to regulate interstate commerce while the statute to which the supreme court found objection was predicated on the taxing power of congress.

Grain exchanges coming under the new act are those at Chicago, Minneapolis, Duluth, Kansas City, St. Louis, Toledo, Milwaukee, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Baltimore.

Wallace Makes Statement.
Secretary Wallace, who as head of the department of agriculture is entrusted with enforcement of the new law, declared in a statement issued after the President's signature had been affixed that he expected cooperation "from legitimate dealers in grain and from all others who favor free, open and competitive markets."

"This does not interfere with hedging transactions on the boards of trade," said Mr. Wallace. "Neither does it interfere with ordinary speculation in the buying or selling of contracts for future delivery. If, however, there should be evidence of undue manipulation or attempts to corner the market, or of the dissemination of false or misleading information about crop or market conditions by members of the exchange, such conduct would be inquired into and promptly dealt with, as required by law. In addition, it prohibits the exchanges from discriminating against cooperative associations of grain producers who may desire membership in order to obtain use of the facilities of the grain exchanges."

"The reports that this law will put the exchanges out of business or interfere with their legitimate functions are without foundation."

G. N. KENISTON RESIGNS FROM COMMERCE JOB

Secretary of Bismarck Commercial Club Resigns, Effective November 1

George N. Keniston, secretary of the Bismarck Commercial club for several years, has resigned his position, it was announced today. The resignation was accepted by the board of directors, effective November 1, E. B. Cox, president of the club said. Mr. Keniston resigns to engage in business in Bismarck, the nature of which he did not care to announce at this time.

Mr. Cox said the resignation was tendered August 15 to take effect as soon as the board could relieve him. Because of the board being in the midst of its plans and the fact that Mr. Keniston was secretary-treasurer of the Joint Paganet committee the board asked him to continue until November 1, if possible. Mr. Cox said. No arrangements have been made by the board for a successor, and none will be made until the club committee and members can be consulted, the president said.

Germany May Ask Admission To Nation's League

Geneva, Sept. 21.—The council of the League of Nations decided today to increase the non-permanent membership of the council from four to six. This will make the council membership ten, with non-permanent members in the majority.

News received here that the German socialist convention had called upon the German government to apply for admission to the League of Nations has aroused great interest in league quarters. Delegates who have taken part in the work of the assembly expressed the opinion today that Germany would be eligible to membership if she applied.

Thirty-five private secretaries are required to handle the correspondence of the league.

Golf Instructor Killed Spectator

Racine, Wis., Sept. 21.—Miss Evelyn Culnan, De Pere, Wis., a teacher in the Racine public schools, was killed last evening by an accidental blow delivered with a golf stick by Allan Simpson, assistant district attorney.

Simpson was showing a strike to a number of devotees of the game when Miss Culnan stepped behind him just as he lifted the driver over his shoulder. The club struck the young woman just back of the ear.

FORD PLANTS OBTAIN COAL, WILL REOPEN

100,000 Workers Are Called Back to Their Jobs Tomorrow by Heads

FORD'S ANNOUNCEMENT

Says Cancellation of I. C. C. Order No. 23 Makes it Possible to Obtain Coal

Detroit, Sept. 21.—The plants of the Ford Motor Company in the Detroit district, closed last Saturday because of the coal situation, thereby throwing 100,000 Ford workers out of work in different parts of the country, will reopen tomorrow morning, it was officially announced today.

Orders for the re-opening of the plants were telegraphed here today by Edsel B. Ford, president of the motor company, who is in Cincinnati. Mr. Ford said cancellation of the interstate commerce commission's service order No. 23, had made it possible again to obtain coal.

The telegram read as follows: "Cancellation of the Interstate Commerce Commission's service order No. 23, had made it possible again to obtain coal."

"Movement of coal to Detroit has started and we feel justified in starting the plants tomorrow (Friday) morning."

"Post notices calling the men back to work and notify the newspapers."

Result of Conference.
Executives of the company said operations would be resumed at Highland Park, River Rouge and Dearborn, where the three large plants of the concern are located, at midnight tonight. Assembly plants throughout the country that were shut down with the parent plants also will resume as quickly as their men can be recalled.

It is planned to put production immediately on the basis it was at the time of the closing.

The resumption is understood at the Ford offices here to be a direct result of a conference Edsel Ford had in Cincinnati yesterday, with a group of about 675 coal producers. Just what arrangements were made to obtain coal were not made known here.

The closing of the plants last Saturday, still in business circles as an industrial strike, on the part of the manufacturer against certain brokers whom he charged with demanding excessive prices for coal, threw approximately 70,000 Detroit men out of work.

GRAIN STORAGE CASE IS HEARD

Glen Ullin Farmers Demand Money from Company

Judge H. L. Berry of Morton county has completed hearing the case in which Peter Kastner is suing the Andrews Grain Co. for $2,979.86 because of the alleged conversion of grain which had been stored in the Glen Ullin Cooperative Elevator Co.

According to the complaint, Anton Wagner, John Shirodo, Frank Fitterer, P. G. Kastner and Peter Kastner had put wheat in the elevator and received storage tickets. The Andrews Grain Co. took the grain under claims against the Glen Ullin elevator. The storage tickets were transferred to Peter Kastner who brought suit to recover the money. The wheat had been in storage in 1921.

LEGION FIGHT "JUST BEGUN"

POWERS SEEK TO PLACATE TURK LEADER

French Envoy Holds Conference with Kemal Pasha At Smyrna

WOULD HOLD THRACE

Position of British Troops at Chanak Considered Perilous - Mohammedans well Armed

(By the Associated Press) London, Sept. 21.—While the allied powers are feverishly endeavoring to arrange a peace conference to clear the slate between Turkey and Greece and prevent more fighting in the Near East, rumblings of impending hostilities continue to come from Constantinople and the Dardanelles.

A relatively small force of British troops is holding Chanak, the key position on the Southern shore of the straits, while the Turkish Nationalists, eager for further conquests after their overwhelming defeat of the Greeks, are concentrated outside the neutral zone at Izmid and Chanak, impatiently awaiting for the word from Mustapha Kemal Pasha to advance.

Well Armed.
The Kemalists, official French dispatches say, have available for use in such a drive 1,000 modern field guns, 5,000 machine guns and enough ammunition which they captured from the Greeks, for a two years campaign.

If their spokesman at Constantinople is to be believed, the Turks are determined that the Allies shall not stand in the path of their desire to reconquer Thrace.

An Associated press despatch quotes this spokesman, Hamid Bey, to the effect that the Kemal army will certainly declare war on the British if they attempt to interfere with a movement across the straits.

Confer With Kemal.
A ray of hope is seen in the conference at Smyrna between Mustapha Kemal Pasha and General Pelle, French high commissioner, to which Yusuf Kemal Bey, the Nationalist foreign minister, has been hastily summoned from Angora. The calling in of Yusuf Kemal points to a very considerable force.

Opinion here for the moment is banking on the strength of the British Naval force in the Dardanelles, which is considered sufficient alone to hold any possible attack by the Turks.

No details are available of the burning of Panderma, on the Southern shore of the Sea of Marmara, as included in official French circles last night. It stated the Greeks burned part of the town before leaving.

According to the TIMES the Russian Soviet government see in the present Near Eastern situation an opportunity to obtain recognition from the powers. Russia proposes, the newspaper says, to act the part of mediator between the Turks and the Greeks, hoping thereby to establish a popularity of the Soviet republic among the people of Mohammedan Asia and compel the entente powers to revise their attitude toward her.

British war vessels are continuing to stand toward the straits of the Dardanelles. The Mediterranean fleet under command of Admiral Broock is being concentrated in the neighborhood of the Dardanelles. The fleet consists of six battleships, six lighter vessels, eight destroyers, and four light cruisers of the Atlantic fleet also are on the way to the straits.

(By the Associated Press) Smyrna, Sept. 21.—Although eight days have passed since the obliterated Smyrna, 75,000 survivors remain exposed on the ground, destitute, and without food. No allied vessel has offered to salvage this last wreckage of human life in the greatest disaster in Asia's history.

Nearly a dozen warships remain in the harbor but none show a disposition to aid the wretched population except the American destroyer. Deportations continue and Turkish soldiers are beginning to carry off the Greek and Armenian girls, leaving their parents in a frantic state.

Sporadic shooting and thefts continue. Smoke is still emerging from the ruins. The Turkish authorities explain that this is due to the burning of human bodies. Dr. Wilfred Post of New York, medical director of the Near East Relief, has urged the Turks to bury their dead, in order to prevent pestilence. He also has appealed to them to vaccinate every one in order to guard against cholera and smallpox.

SLOPE'S QUEEN OF PAGEANT IS GIVEN OVATION

Another Large Audience Sees Final Production at Mandan Fairgrounds

EXTRA SEATS FILLED

Pageant Has Been Medium of Community Getting Immense Amount of Publicity

Miss Anna Spetcher who was candidate of Olney county, and Missouri Slope queen of the pageant in the closing performance last night at the Mandan fairground. Miss Spetcher, victor over Miss Arloween Cornell of Mott and Miss Anna Brumbaugh of Shields crowned amid the same splendor that marked the coronation of the Bismarck and Mandan queens, with the entire cast of several hundred of the pageant and the audience doing her homage.

The last presentation of the pageant brought out fully as large a crowd as the two preceding nights. The fairground grandstand was filled, as were most of the extra seats in front of the grandstand.

Perfect weather again obtained and the cast with the experience of the two previous nights, gave the best presentation of the historical episode of Missouri Slope life that has been given. A street dance followed the pageant in Mandan, hundreds joining in the celebration in carnival spirit.

Belief is expressed by members of the joint publicity committee for the pageant that Bismarck, Mandan and western North Dakota obtained through the celebration publicity more valuable and more favorable than ever before. Newspapers in Minnesota, South Dakota, Montana, and Wisconsin and North Dakota carried many columns of matter concerning the celebration. A half-page of space appeared in many of these newspapers, together with the story of the remarkable history of western North Dakota, the progress in a half-century, with the fact that the new bridge marks a new step in the progress of transportation, and that western North Dakota holds forth innumerable possibilities for development to which its people are awake. In addition a number of magazines circulating widely through the middle-west, the territory from which western North Dakota must expect her immigration, carried much reading matter concerning the new achievement.

Real Achievement

Many North Dakotans, the committee believes, have not appreciated or felt proper pride before in the remarkable history of this region, unexcelled in the United States in stories of adventure, courage and progress. It was the recognition of this, and the interest in it, that the committee was able to get wide publicity in several states and through it to carry the message of the present-day opportunity and achievements of western North Dakota.

Daily newspapers in North Dakota carrying illustrated stories of the pageant and the bridge included The Fargo Forum, Grand Forks Herald, Minot Daily News, Jamestown Alert and Devils Lake Journal. Among the largest out-of-state newspapers which also had illustrated stories were The Duluth Herald, St. Paul Pioneer Press and Dispatch, Minneapolis Journal and Minneapolis Tribune. More than a score of newspapers in neighboring states also carried the illustrated story.

Editors Help

Special thanks is given by the publicity committee to the editors of weekly newspapers in western North Dakota for their extensive publicity. Through their columns they carried the message to their readers that the bridge project marks not merely a new step for Mandan and Bismarck, but it is a bridge in which all western North Dakota is interested and it promises to be an important milestone in the progress of this action. Through the readers of these newspapers it is expected that the message of progress and opportunity in western North Dakota will be carried to thousands of people "back home." Weekly and daily newspapers in the Red River Valley recognizing the exceptional historical background of this section and the importance of the bridge in trans-continental auto traffic, also gave generously of their news columns.

Thank Those Who Aided.

J. C. Anderson, chairman of the Bismarck committee, today said the committee wished to thank all of the local people who aided in the pageant and celebration plans; members of the cast, cast committee, transportation committee, business men, children, various other local committees, and especially the prisoners. The committee felt those in charge of the parade had done especially well, he said, that Frank Everts had handled the barbecue in splendid style and that scores of other co-operated splendidly.

Mrs. D. L. Thurston, of the pageant management, before leaving the city, said she wished to thank the local people for their co-operation in the affair.

Details of finances of the pageant are being concluded, but it will be sometime before the financial result is known, it was said. Request was made that all bills be pre-ented promptly and that costumes be returned immediately to the Commercial club.

Where Old Nature Does Itself Proud

BY W. H. PORTERFIELD.

"Where the falls of Minnehaha, "Laugh and gleam among the oak trees, "Laugh and leap in to the valley." —Song of Hiawatha.

MINNESOTA

Leave it to Dame Nature, the master gardener of the ages. She knows how. Give her 10 million years, plenty of glaciers and a few other conditions and she could produce another region as superlatively beautiful as central Minnesota in the good old summer time.

I say she could do so, only truth compels us to admit that to date the old girl has never done it.

There are 10,000 lakes in Minnesota, ranging from dignified bodies of deep water, bearing upon their temperamental bosoms steamships of dimensions, down to miniature lakelets and ponds with out even the dignity of a name, covering portions of granddaddy's back pasture and floating heavier than grandma's latest brood of yellow ducklings.

All are attractive, as lakes always are; most are forest bordered and flower framed down to the very water's edge.

From June to October it is vacation land, summer and lover's land, probably without a peer for those who merely want to be lazy and relax—proper pride before in the remarkable history of this region, unexcelled in the United States in stories of adventure, courage and progress. It was the recognition of this, and the interest in it, that the committee was able to get wide publicity in several states and through it to carry the message of the present-day opportunity and achievements of western North Dakota.

FINAL EFFORTS OF CANDIDATES TO DECIDE OWNERSHIP OF CARS

All Daily Tribune Candidates Still Have A Chance to Win Auto and They Alone Have Power to Decide Which Prize Shall Be Thiers; Secure Every Subscription Possible Before Saturday Night.

With eight o'clock, Saturday night, the closing hour of The Tribune great Automobile and Prize campaign drawing just that much nearer every time the clock strikes, and with the old extra vote schedule in effect, which offers votes in tremendous numbers, the candidates are stamming every fibre to produce the big votes that will make them proud and happy owners of wonderful motor cars.

The candidates are working under tension and are concentrating their efforts in a way that means business, and they are not going to be slow to take advantage of the extra vote offer, for they know that it contains all the elements needed for their success.

DENY FRAUD IN STORE DEALS

Attorneys For Abe Gordon Begin Defense in U. S. Court

A general denial of any intent to defraud creditors was the basis of the defense developed by attorneys in behalf of Abe Gordon, Minot merchant, in resisting the claims of the receiver appointed to two stores in Minot and one in Valley City. The defense answer to the contention, of fraud is simply that there was no fraud, and the stores should be restored to their rightful owners, Francis Murphy of Minot, counsel for Gordon, said.

Vote Offer Outlined

Every $30 worth of subscription payments will earn 150,000 extra votes; up until the closing hour of the campaign, 8 o'clock p. m., Saturday.

End of Race in Sight

Every candidate, no matter what has been accomplished previously, is urged to put his or her best efforts into the work now. They must do it if they are going to be safe in the position they have gained for themselves, for their competitors are leaving no stone unturned to cut down their majority, and that isn't

HELPED HIS BACK

Backache, rheumatic pains, dizziness and blurred vision are symptoms of kidney trouble. "My husband had a bad back," writes Mrs. M. McCullough, Easton, Pa. "When he sat down he could hardly get up and then he would be drawn over to one side. He tried Foley Kidney Pills and they cured him." Foley Kidney Pills quickly relieve kidney and bladder trouble.

of the committee which is in charge of arrangements. The exhibit will be designated to show "the evolution of dairying in North Dakota."

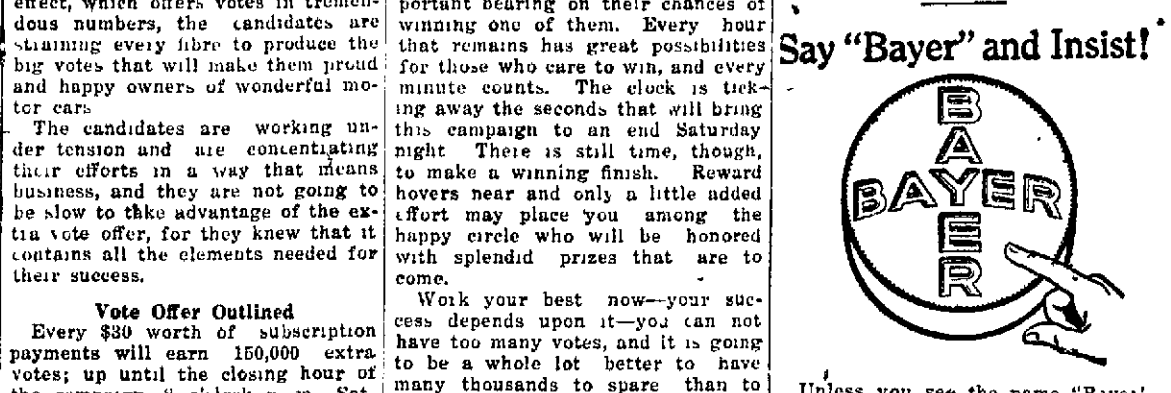

Three of the state's crack dairy herds, representing the three great dairy breeds—Holstein, Jersey and Guernsey—each containing individuals having national reputations for excellence will be included in the exhibit.

Several county dairy organizations are planning to attend the show with their full membership.

SPECIAL-SIX SEDAN

Studebaker

$2050

THE Studebaker Special-Six Sedan will win your admiration at first glance. After you have examined it you will be even more delighted with it. When you have ridden in it you won't be satisfied with anything else.

The market does not offer a more beautiful enclosed body. Certainly none is built of better materials and finer workmanship. It is a striking example of the handicraft of Studebaker artisans.

Everything is in exquisite taste. Its distinctive body lines are enhanced by massive headlights, the graceful cowl lamps and the courtesy light just above the running board on the driver's side, which illuminates the roadway in passing other cars at night.

Inside, the inviting depth of the cushions, the subdued harmony of upholstery, the soft carpeting and the completeness of appointments offer an irresistible appeal.

It is mounted on the same Special-Six chassis which has won the enthusiasm of thousands of owners for its dependable performance, power, comfort and economy in fuel and tires.

The Studebaker Special-Six Sedan offers the utmost closed car refinement—and at moderate cost. At the new low price of $2050 it represents the greatest closed car value that Studebaker ever offered.

The name Studebaker is your assurance of satisfaction.

Four doors that swing wide open; simple, automatic window lifts raise or lower plate glass windows; optional cover; light; massed headlights; artistic coach lamps; courtesy light; cord ventilator; windshield wiper and rain wiper; jeweled eight-day clock; exhaust heater; thief-proof transmission lock.

Interviewed by the Associated Press today, Dr. Post said: "It is regrettable allied ships did not do more in salvaging human life. The work of all the vessels on the night of the fire was magnificent, but on the succeeding days when the impulse of the great disaster disappeared to a slow lull in the energy and spirit. 'If we had kept up the work there would now be no evacuation problem and thousands would have been saved which might otherwise be deported or killed. Even before the fire broke there was indiscriminate killing and looting. There are so many bodies in the street, that I had, on one occasion, to alight from my automobile to life the corpse out of the path of the car.'"

NOT IN DANGER

Paris, Sept. 21.—There is no question of the immediate withdrawal of the British troops from Chanak on the Asiatic side of the Straits of the Dardanelles, was authoritatively stated in British official circles here today. The latest reports received in British quarters from the Near East indicate that the British are not in danger of attack in their present position and there are indications that the soldiers will remain in Chanak pending the peace conference.

Mustapha Kemal Pasha is now faced with two distinct parties in his government, the one warlike, demanding the immediate occupation of Thrace, and the other pacific and willing to remain in the present Turkish Nationalist positions in the Near East until the peace conference settles the peace terms. The British quarters to which this information comes believe that Kemal is supporting the pacific members of the government and will be able to hold the army in check.

SUMMON PEACE CONFERENCE

Paris, Sept. 21.—The Allied powers are agreed upon the quick summoning of a peace conference to settle the Turkish problem, but the basis of negotiations acceptable to the Ankara government is still to be found.

It was principally to learn this that the entente statesmen adjourned their conversations until Friday and today efforts are going forward to obtain the Turkish view.

The peace conference is expected to open within three weeks, probably at Rome or Venice with delegates present representing Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, Turkey, Greece, Rumania and Jugoslavians.

UTTERS WARNING

London, Sept. 21.—Grave warning of disaster to come unless Great Britain and France act in concert in the Near East is being uttered by Viscount Grey of Fallodon, former secretary for foreign affairs. In a letter to the TIMES he denounces the British government's attitude as announced last Saturday, regarding the permanent freedom of the Dardanelles as a "terrible mistake," the reply to which has been the withdrawal of the French flag from Chanak.

"If our mistakes prove fatal to Franco-British co-operation," he writes, "the consequences may be more disastrous than thought can measure or words express."

ISSUES COMMUNIQUE

Constantinople, Sept. 21.—General Hristov of the British army as the general officer in chief command of the Allied forces has issued a communique in which he declares that responsibility for the consequences of violations of the neutral zone will fall upon the authors of such violations.

(By the Associated Press)

Rome, Sept. 21.—Italy officially informed Rumania today that she will not permit any action by Bulgaria that would change the present status quo in the Balkans and is ready, if necessary to take recourse to military measures.

DETACHMENTS WITHDRAWN

Constantinople, Sept. 21.—The French and Italian detachments and flags were withdrawn today from the neutral zones of Amid and the Dardanelles on orders from the respective governments.

TOMMIES HOLD LINES

Constantinople, Sept. 21.—The lines are now held exclusively by British troops, supported by the combined Atlantic and Mediterranean fleets. In the meantime the Kemalists are reported to have reached the neutral zone of the Dardanelles. The next few hours will show whether the Kemalists contemplate action.

APPROPRIATE $200,000

Washington, Sept. 21.—An appropriation of $200,000 for relief of Americans in Smyrna, recommended yesterday by President Harding, was voted today by the Senate. It was included in a deficiency bill and must yet be approved by the House.

FAMOUS MOUNT OF LATE RAIL KING RETIRES

WALTER HILL AND "OLD DAN"

By NEA Service.

Livingston, Mont., Sept. 21.—Perhaps "Old Dan" does look just like any ordinary horse, as he roams the green pastures of a ranch here. But folks in the surrounding country know different. They know that "Old Dan" was once the favorite saddle mount of the late James J. Hill, railroad king, and they also know that now the veteran has retired and has packed his last saddle. It all came about like this: The appraisers of Mrs. James J. Hill's estate—she died a year ago—leaving $18,000,000—estimated "Old Dan's" value at $65. It was decided to sell him to the highest bidder.

Walter Hill, youngest son of James J. Hill, heard about it. He is a lover of horses and he headed for St. Paul, Minn., to purchase "Old Dan."

Brothers and sisters of Walter attended the auction and bid in on the horse. It started at $65 and soon passed $400. Walter finally told them all he was going to have "Old Dan" if it cost him $10,000. Walter won.

And now "Old Dan" has retired. He'll just loaf, and, as Walter Hill says, "will never again wear a saddle."

PRICES
The new revolves around money more than usual. U. S. Steel Corporation raises price of steel rails to $43 a ton. This price will apply on deliveries until June 30, 1923.

The pre-war price on rails was $28 a ton.

Judge Cary and his associates thus advertise their belief that wholesale prices until the middle of next year are not apt to average higher than 53 per cent above pre-war. This may help you decide your money plans, for many economists think steel rail prices reflect general price tendencies.

DEATH
A man dies on an operating table in St. Bartholomew's Hospital in London. Surgeons continue their sitting. They reach and begin to massage the pericardium, membrane enclosing the heart.

In half an hour the heart begins beating normally. The patient does not regain consciousness. But his heart continues beating 24 hours, when it stops forever.

This is not pulling a man back from the grave. But it is mighty close to it.

BOOZE
Henry Ford says he will fire any employee with liquor on his breath, on his hip or in his collar at home.

Ford bans booze because it recently has been causing many accidents in his Detroit plant. This seems like old times. John Barleycorn was doomed first as a Safety First measure. The sentence, was approved by Supreme Judge Industrial Efficiency. That's the real reason liquor no longer can be sold openly.

PRESTO!
Rainmaker Hatfield is the talk of Italy. They had a five-months' drought over there. Italian government sent an S. O. S. for Hatfield, reputed to have made the heavens open and pour down heavy rains in various parts of our country and Canada.

Hatfield set up his rigging near Naples. Presto! Comes a young cloudburst.

It may be—maybe, still is—a myth, saying that the thunder of clouds precipitates heavy rains.

After Stiger, the Austrian, probably had this in mind back in 1896 when he invented the small cannon that is used to stove off and melt ice in hallstons.

Dr. W. H. Hering, writing in the Scientific Monthly, says he has discovered all kinds of "artificial weather control" and that he is convinced Stiger's method really works.

The cannon theoretically break up the clouds.

Rainmaker Hatfield's method is kept secret. He was offered and won $4000 an inch for making it rain at Medicine Hat, Alberta, Canada. And now he will bring a big roll back from Italy.

Scientists of the Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh are experimenting to prevent fogs. Laboratory results are encouraging, so the method will be tried out on rivers.

The method? It's simple. Spray the river's surface with a chemical that will prevent mists from rising and condensing into fogs.

Dr. Hering in his scientific article says that weather control by artificial means is not regarded as unscientific, and that meteorologists are not hopeless of accomplishing it.

C. F. Martin, of the United States Weather Bureau, steps in, however, and warns farmers against swindlers in the guise of weather wizards. A large crop of these fakers is sprouting up, claiming to make rain, stop rains, prevent frost, regulate heat and cold and charm the winds.

Some of them may be practicable. But farmers should remember that the genuine thing always has its counterfeiters.

BIRD-MEN
The Booth-racer, navy BR airplane, which is entered for the Detroit aviation meet in October, "draws up its feet like a bird." That is, the landing gear, wheels and all, during flight, are pulled up into the body of the machine to lessen air resistance.

In this instance, and in the gliding contests, you see flying back to imitation of birds. Logical, for the most perfect flier is the bird. And man cannot improve on nature.

BUNKOED
Americans have lost at least $2,000,000 by the drop in marks since speculators began buying them. Paris bankers make the estimate. In other countries, similar losses.

The bankers figure that Germany has profited $5,000,000,000 by depreciation of the paper marks sold to foreigners. The inflation of German currency apparently has been intentional, part of a shrewd money-making scheme.

RECKLESS
Are you careful in motoring over a railroad crossing? Safety experts check up 164,000 cars crossing railroad tracks. They find only about 4,000 drivers stop their cars to make sure no trains are coming. 32,000 lock only one way, $1,000 take no precautions at all.

Only one driver in four is really careful. Are you one of the four, playing safe?

SPY
Stenbauer, Germany's master spy, has returned to London, according to Scotland Yard detectives who are looking for him. Stenbauer's return worries the British foreign office. That he is back on the job is just another indication that Europe is returning to normal—that is, intrigue.

Is the World War really ended or is Europe just having a breathing spell to "get second-wind"?

EDITORIAL REVIEW
Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have the side of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

INVINCIBLE LA FOLLETTE
Senator La Follette has been re-nominated for a fourth term by an impressive majority. Victory in his own State has been a habit with him for nearly forty years. His success, this year, is a bad defeat for his colleague, Senator Lenroot, and for the rest of the anti-La Follette Republicans, some of whom are conservative, some, like Mr. Lenroot, "progressive." It was a queer campaign. A highly respectable Committee of Forty-four tried to rouse the voters against "radicalism." They described themselves as Independent

Progressive Republicans. They were going to preserve "our republican form of constitutional and representative government"—a worthy object; but will Mr. La Follette, now 67, and never able largely to diffuse himself beyond the bounds of Dagerdom, be likely seriously to impair our institutions?

The new organization was against reaction and standpointism and the "destructive radicalism" typified by State socialism, whether masquerading as La Follettism, the Non-Partisan League, communism or the I. W. W. To link Mr. La Follette's extensive and growing collection of principles with communism and the I. W. W. indicates an atrophied sense of humor. Besides, what chance is there of beating "radicalism" in a State long inclined to it, a nursery of political and economic experiments, and which has followed State socialism and Mr. La Follette for more than twenty years? The Senator, if he stands alone in the Senate, has a plethora of friends in Wisconsin. Socialists put up no candidate against him. The Non-Partisan League, seeking control of the Legislature in the hope of making Wisconsin another North Dakota, was his ally. The Federation of Labor and the Farmer-Labor Party were his warm friends.

Officers of the four great railroad brotherhoods, the President of the International Association of Machinists, Mr. Jewell, chief of the striking railway shopmen, appealed to the people to vote for La Follette as an enemy of the Esch-Cummings law, "the crime of 1920," of judicial tyranny and usurpation," and the future restorer of high taxes on profiteers and large inheritances. On the stump Mr. La Follette thoroughly enjoyed himself. He told the farmers that the railroads were robbing them of millions and billions. He cried for the bonus, to be paid by steep excess profits taxes. Defending his course in regard to the war, he said, with his characteristic understatement, that "a millionaire was made for every three soldiers killed in France." He smote the Administration hip and thigh. He denounced the Washington conference, the Four-Power Treaty, and what not. With his passion for denunciation, he actively supplied it to something that deserves it, the Fordney-McCumber tariff. "Newberyism" was soundly trounced, as was that ancient enemy, "predatory wealth," inspirer and master of the Washington conference.

The fervor wasn't by any means all on one side. The Constitutional League proclaimed that "La Follette's doctrines are as bad as or worse than those which have ruined Russia." Mr. La Follette seems to have persuaded the majority of the voters that he will repeal, single-handed, the Esch-Cummings act, secure the passage of a constitutional amendment giving Congress the power to re-enact laws held unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, save the nation's oil, coal and timber from "the trusts," revise the Federal Reserve act to suit the farmers, the laborers, "the people." The "welfare of this and many succeeding generations" depends upon "the issues of this campaign," this particular primary campaign. The excellent and learned college President who was his opponent is described as "six feet high." What could Goliath do against David? Nobody could have beaten him. His Governor is re-nominated, his whole ticket with one possible exception.

For over forty years this man has been elected to office by popular vote. He holds Wisconsin in the hollow of his hand. What is his secret? He is industrious, but far from engaging, orator. He is without that gift of commanding personal presence which an American politician once said, "rules the world." The people who swear by him must believe in his earnestness and sincerity. His face, if one may say so without incivility, is the face of a fanatic; nor should his agility in adding to his stock of opinions, his long-disappointed national ambitions, the fact that he is one of the most adroit of politicians, lead us to false conclusions. In Wisconsin he is invincible. At Washington his structural defect is that he can never quite or long agree with anybody.—New York Times.

THE CHAIN-LETTER
One of the most childish bits of superstition to which the adult mind is prey is the so-called "chain-letter." All who receive these letters are enjoined to send similar ones to nine friends within twenty-four hours. At the end of nine days, if you have been an obedient link in the chain, you are told you may expect some good fortune. If you refuse to be annoyed, bad luck is promised you.

Those who insist upon casting charms upon their lives, inviting the smile of Destiny and the wink of Fate, have enough devices handed down from the days of savagery to satisfy them without troubling their friends. Let them carry rabbits' feet, buckeye and horseshoes. Let them avoid black cats and raised ladders. Let them never break mirrors. Let them perform with due solemnity the salt ritual. Let them do anything that will forestall the avalanche of chain-letters upon prosy persons who do not care to court their luck.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THREAT OF WAR IN BALKANS
Look at your map of Europe and learn where the Balkan Peninsula is. You'll see it is broken up into many small countries. Trouble among them has caused many of the great European wars.

There's trouble among them now and it is threatening the peace of the great nations of Europe.

CURRENT EVENTS

Coal Strike and Shortage Labor Trouble on Railways Fighting in the Near East

By Norris W. Quinn
In the world today two great series of events are taking place. One, in America, is leading toward peace and prosperity; the other, in Europe, toward discord and possibly war.

In our country two strikes which threatened to cripple our industries and leave us without food or fuel, are nearing an end.

One, the strike of the coal miners, already has been settled. The other, the strike of the railway shopmen, is partly settled and a general settlement seems near.

But in Europe a war between the Greeks and Turks in Asia Minor is threatening to cause fighting between the greater European nations.

MINERS WORKING AGAIN
All union miners in both hard and soft coal fields struck April 1. No union mines operated thereafter except here and there in scattered districts where strikebreakers or men who did not belong to the union were employed.

Though no coal was mined, we did not for a time feel the lack of it. This was because we needed none to heat our houses during the summer, while factories, railways, steamship lines and other large coal users had big reserve supplies on hand.

But with the approach of fall, the fuel situation began to look serious. Householders wished to lay in winter supplies. Reserve stocks of factories were getting low. Some factories had to close down and men were thrown out of work.

Then, at a meeting in Cleveland, the union miners and a large number of the soft-coal mine owners reached an agreement and the miners went back to work.

Shortly afterward a similar agreement was reached at Philadelphia between the union miners and operators of hard or anthracite coal mines.

Now coal is being mined in both fields, but a shortage of freight cars may bring about a coal famine in some parts of the country, it is feared.

RAILWAY STRIKE IS RELIEVED
The strike of the railway shop craftsmen has been partly settled. Shop workers are railway employees who make repairs on engines and other railway equipment and see to it that engines and cars are in proper and safe condition to carry passengers and freight.

Most of the union shopmen in the United States went on strike when their pay was lowered by order of the United States Railroad Labor Board.

When these men no longer were at work, the railways had no one to repair their equipment except non-union strikebreakers and a few union men who had not heeded the strike order.

This meant in many cases that equipment, lacking repairs, daily grew to be in worse condition.

New shopmen, at a meeting in Chicago, have reached an agreement with 33 railways to return to work. The other railways have not accepted the agreement and their shopmen will remain on strike.

But the shopmen's leaders believe the other railways, sooner or later, will accept the agreement.

PLEASANT TO MEET YOU.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS
By Olive Barton Roberts
The Twins wished themselves up to the Dream Star where Eena Meena, the Magician, was holding dreams. "Is Light Finger here?" asked Nancy, sticking in her head. "No," answered Eena Meena. "What's he done now?"

"He's stolen the Fairy Queen's automobile," answered Nick, "and we're hunting for it."

"Him?" said Eena Meena, raising his bushy eyebrows in surprise. "Then I bet you a dollar some of my rivals have it. Either Twelve Toes or Tricky Trax, and that won't do it all. Just let me think. I'll have to help you to get it."

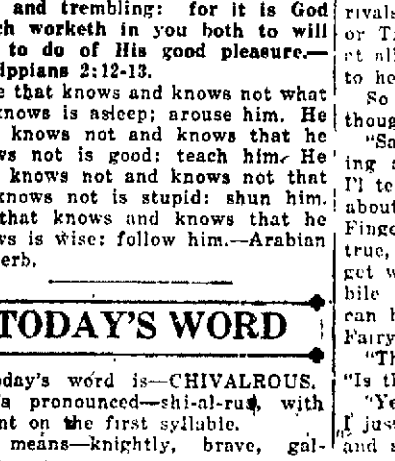

So Eena Meena thought and thought.

"Say," he said finally, "I'm making a dream here that's a dandy. I'll tell you what it is. It's a dream about a railroad train. If Light Fingers dreams this he'll think it's true, and he'll jump out so he won't get wrecked, and the magic automobile will stop. Then you children can hop in and take it back to the Fairy Queen."

"That's a fine idea," said Nick. "Is the dream nearly done?"

"Yes," said Eena Meena. "Almost. I just have to shake in a little soot and a little black smoke and a few hairs into the kettle. There you are, like all ready!"

He put the dream into a tond-skin bag and handed it to the little boy. "Don't lose it," advised the Magician, "and don't back the bag. If you do, you and Nancy will dream the dream yourselves and that would be dreadful."

"Where do you think we'll find Light Fingers?" asked Nancy.

"On the Milky Way," said Eena Meena. "It's fine for automobiles, and he's sure to be there. Hide yourselves behind the Dreamland tree and he'll come along by and by."

PROCLAMATION
Year by year, the national destruction of life and property by fire has been mounting until the total annual loss of material wealth now approximates the enormous sum of $485,000,000. This means the wiping out of needed resources at the rate of about $1,370,000 a day, in addition to the destruction of 48 lives daily.

In our own state, during the five years ended with 1920, our fire waste came to the great total of $9,552,172, a sum that would build 1,990 five thousand dollar homes or many miles of good roads. Thus it is evident that we have been paying our full share of the tax levied by carelessness and ignorance in handling fire hazards.

Since most fires are preventable, the regrettable devastation by burning that takes place day after day, is largely unnecessary. It goes without saying that every effort should be made to relieve the people of the self-imposed burden represented by preventable fire.

THEREFORE, I, R. A. NESTOS, Governor of the State of North Dakota, by the authority in me vested, do designate and proclaim the period from

October 2 to 7, 1922 as

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK—and I earnestly request that the proper city departments, cooperating with Chambers of Commerce and other civic organizations, shall arrange interesting and educational exercises that will impress the importance of the occasion upon the public mind. I hope that every resident of the state will actively take part in the observance and that they will remove rubbish and litter and other hazards about their homes and places of business; that they will inculcate the personal habit of carelessness. I ask that our newspapers, by editorial mention, shall help to spread the doctrine of carefulness; that our schools shall adopt systems of instruction in fire prevention to the end that our state may be made a safer and better place in which to live.

Only by arousing the public to the appalling situation created by our excessive fire waste can the evil be corrected.

Given under my hand, and the Great Seal of North Dakota, this 14th day of September, in the year of Our Lord, One thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty-Two.

R. A. NESTOS, Governor.

POET'S CORNER
THE CONQUERING OF THE WEST
Lo, from the Vale of Ages a motley throng appears, long ago, the spirits of our heroes, those hardy pioneers.

Who braved the many dangers that lurked along the way, That Progress might have entrance, and we might see this day.

Brave, unafraid, outspoken, those men forged over on, Their hands 'cut down the forests, and fought the battles won; Their blood was shed in conflict, but with hearts firm and sure, They fought that Civilization might evermore endure.

From homes of wealth and comfort, to shanties cold and bare, The wives of those frontiers men their every hardship shared; 'Twas here they reared their children 'twixt hope and 'dreadful fears, 'Twas here they worked and struggled—those hardy pioneers.

Think of their boundless courage; they struggled not in vain, Today we reap their harvest thru all Dakota's plain; Their straggling little townsites to cities grand have grown, While field on field of golden grain their great foresight have shown.

Years pass; we still forge onward, when one great task is thru, It only leads to greater tasks that we have still to do; Spanned now, the great Missouri has put our strength to test, And promises still greater things—the joining of the West.

Le Envy Sing of the great Missouri Slope, oh Muse, with softest lays, Speak of all who seek her ways; Tell of the prairies broad and wide, where men may live and toil, And gain a fruitful harvest from the rich and fertile soil.

Florence Berner.

STILL CATCHING AT 56

MAURICE HEUMAN

When a hall of fame is established for baseball veterans Maurice Heuman of Jackson, Mich., will be entitled to a prominent place.

Aged 56, he still plays great ball. Heuman is catcher for Jackson Council No. 57, United Commercial Travelers' team. He picks out ones off the bat like a big leaguer. He can hit, too. Recently, out of five times at bat, he made one three-base hit, one two-bagger and three singles. In 1888 and 1889 he belonged to the Fremont club in the Ohio Central League.

Of their 10 games this season the traveling men have lost only one. Most of the opposing teams are semi-pros.

St. Alexius Hospital.
Miss Mathilda Anhorn of Glen Ulin, Mrs. Harry Eustis of Baldwin, John Sasse of Golden Valley, Miss Margie Vallancey of Glendive, and Mrs. Dan Sundquist have entered the St. Alexius hospital for treatment. Mrs. John Omdot of Steele, Miss Helen Easton of Glendive, Archie Johnson and Mrs. John Miller of Raleigh, have been discharged from the hospital.

AT THE MOVIES

VIOLA DANA CHARMS

One of the most delightful screen offerings of the year is "The Five Dollar Baby," starring the charming Viola Dana, which is at the Capitol Theatre. It is a screen version by Metro of Irvin S. Cobb's short story, which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, and it proved to be a delightfully human photoplay of life in New York's Ghetto. Harry Beaumont directed the film. Will be shown Monday.

Miss Dana was never more mirth-provoking than she is in her newest role. A rich and ready child of thirteen, brought up by a Jewish pawnbroker, she is highly amusing in the earlier scenes of the play. She is constantly involved in some lively incidents or other with the people of the East Side, all of whom are remarkably fine types.

The story is that of a baby who is abandoned and picked up by a hobo, who pawns her for five dollars. The pawnbroker, who boasts that he "lends money on anything," decides to rear the child himself. When, eighteen years later, he is asked to surrender her to the man who pawned her, he contrives a means of avoiding the performance of his obligation.

Rex Taylor adapted the story for the screen. John Arnold photographed it. A. F. Mantz was art and technical director.

THE ELTINGE

The feature at the Eltinge for Friday and Saturday is "The Man Unconquerable" with Jack Holt as star and Sylvia Breamer, leading lady.

It is a story of great power, dealing as it does with a young man who has been reared with a profound respect for law and order. He inherits his uncle's pearly grounds on an island in the South Pacific, and he resolves that he will maintain his peaceful principles in his new possessions. But he has misjudged the elemental passions and cunning of the pearlys and finds that he has to discard his theories and fight. And when he does fight he is unconquerable.

Little Peggy also appears in one of her comedies, "Get Rich Quick Peggy." Pathe News pictures are a part of the program.

TURKEY MAKES A GRAVE SITUATION GRAVER

MAP SHOWING THE TROUBLE AREA OF ASIA MINOR, WHERE TURKEY GAVE GREECE A DRUBBING.

By William Philip Simms
Washington, Sept. 21.—Too many of us are inclined to give the Greeks the laugh for having received a drubbing at the hands of the Turks, in Asia Minor then forgotten the thing.

Nothing could be a bigger mistake. The Greeks looked for trouble, certainly, and they found it. King Tino asked for a licking, and he got it. In all of which we concur, BUT—

The Turkish victory is not the end of a perfect day but only the beginning of an unpleasant one—or rather the continuation of one—just one more episode in the European tragedy now going on. The episode, however, may have stupendous repercussions later on. Mustafa Kemal is friendly with Soviet Russia. Russia is now virtually the ally of Germany. Let us not forget that, nor that the Turkish victory over the Greeks will not go unnoticed anywhere in the Muslim world. Europe is still a bubbling cauldron of opposing interests, of conflicting ambitions. Hatreds are still at the boiling point. Poverty and hunger are the driving forces of certain of the nations, and almost daily we are hearing open threats of this country making common cause with that country in the event another country attempts thus and so.

The military "comeback" of Turkey in Asia Minor has set Constantinople mad with joy, according to the cables. Will Turkey long keep to herself the dissatisfaction she so keenly feels over her situation in Europe? England has opposed Turkey—Turkey lies between England and India—what view will London now take of the matter?

France has been friendly with Turkey. What will Paris say? Turkey can make trouble for England in India and Egypt. Will she make demands on Great Britain?

Poetic justice maybe, but assuredly there is nothing to laugh over in the Greek debacle. The re-entry into the arena of a powerful fighting force—and no one save those who have never come in contact with the Turks deny they can be a powerful fighting force—merely serves to render an already grave situation more critical still.

FEDERAL INVESTIGATION FIND BOYS

WORK MOST ADVANCED IN NORTH DAKOTA DUE TO ROTARY

Workers for the Childrens Bureau of Washington, D. C., found boys recreational work in the centers of population in North Dakota well advanced, but were forced to admit that they found little to employ the time and attention of the girls in the different cities. Plans were reported of proposed work, however, for a number of the towns. "In the population centers," says the report, "considerable work had been done for supervised recreation, athletic work in the schools, the organization of boys clubs and parents clubs and the supervision of public dances. In thus guaranteeing wholesome outlets for the play activities of children, much is accomplished toward the prevention of child delinquency. But in the small towns and rural communities throughout the State there has been a serious lack of preventive work of this character."

"Recreation and club facilities have been developed to a considerable extent in the cities with over 5,000 population in the ten counties surveyed. (Adams, Burke, Burleigh, Cass, Grand Forks, McIntosh, Ramsey, Stark, Sully, Teton, Ward). Playgrounds in the school yards, parks and municipal swimming pools were found in nearly all of them. One city, the second in size in the state, was poorly equipped for recreation. There was no playground apparatus at any of the schools, or in the four small parks. In one of the parks was a small wading pond for the children and in another there were two tennis courts. There was only one gymnasium large enough for basketball."

Two natural parks in Jamestown were equipped with play apparatus and tennis courts, and there were swimming pools in the river which bordered them. The parks were under the supervision of paid directors during the summer months. "The Rotary Clubs had taken up recreational problems in Bismarck and Jamestown and had done much constructive work. Thus far their work had been almost entirely with boys. The club in Bismarck employed a recreational leader, who began in May 1921 to direct the boys' work, and clubs had been organized to which all boys under twelve years of age were eligible. Their program was fourfold, physical, mental, social and spiritual. About three hundred boys belonged to the clubs during the past winter. Four summer camps for boys were conducted last summer under the direction of the recreational leader. In Jamestown, a boys' band had been fostered by the Rotary Club, the leader being paid by the club. Plans were under way for a boys' summer camp, with a director in charge."

"Recreational work for the girls had not yet been organized. In Bismarck, the boys' director hoped to start such work in the near future and expected to train women from the Business and Professional Women's Club to take charge of it."

"In all the large cities the Boy Scout work was well organized. In Dickinson and Devils Lake, two cities of about 5,000 population, much attention and interest had been given to this work. 'Devils Lake was very proud of its Boy Scout Band of about 60 pieces and the directors of the Devils Lake Civic and Commerce Association had recently pledged $4,000 for maintaining the band. Free Saturday afternoon concerts to be given by the band during the summer."

Three troops, with a membership of about 75 boys had already been organized in Dickinson, Stark County."

FEW POTATOES ARE SHIPPED

Unfavorable Weather and Price Holds Back Digging

Grand Forks, Sept. 21.—Unfavorable weather and low prices have combined to hold up the Red River Valley potato crop, according to C. H. Johnson, supervisor of federal potato inspection in Grand Forks. Harvesting has been very slow and only lately has any great amount been done, he stated.

J. H. Griffin, Great Northern division freight agent here, said that potatoes were just beginning to move on that line in any great quantity.

Advices received by the railroad officials reveal that 15 cars of potatoes were loaded at Devils Lake yesterday, eight cars at Rustad and several cars at nearly all of the towns on the line from Crookston to Moorhead following the eastern bank of the Red river.

"The ground is just dry enough to make digging easy now," stated Mr. Griffin, "and evidently the farmers in that section are taking advantage of the change in the weather. It is interesting to note that none but first class potatoes are being shipped this year, each carload being carefully sorted and graded."

The movement of potatoes out of North Dakota has been practically at a standstill so far this fall, according to Mr. Johnson.

"Only about 25 car loads have been shipped from the entire northeastern section of the state to my knowledge," stated the federal inspector. "If the present good weather holds, however, shipments will probably increase rapidly."

YANKS PRACTICALLY CINCH AMERICAN LEAGUE PENNANT

BARRING AN UPSET RACE IS DECIDED

Take Second Game From Detroit While St. Louis Browns Lose

(By the Associated Press)
Chicago, Sept. 21.—Barring an upset of the most sensational order, the New York Yankees have clinched the 1922 American league pennant. By taking the second game of the series from Detroit, 6 to 5, while Washington blanked the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 0, the Yanks increased their lead to three and a half games. They can split even in their eighth game and still finish no worse than in a tie for first place. St. Louis was all even in its contests. Victory in five more games will give the Yankees the pennant regardless of what the Browns do.

Pittsburgh Has Chance.
Pittsburgh in pursuing what seemingly is a "rainbow chance" for the National league pennant, took the first of a three-game series from New York, 4-1, but the Giants today were still 4-1-2 games in front. Pittsburgh can tie for the top by taking all nine of its games, if the Giants obtain only an even break in their 12 contests. McGraw can sew up the race by winning but seven more games, regardless of his rival's showing.

Hornshy Stopped.
Rogers Hornshy's consecutive hitting streak was stopped by Burleigh Grimes of Brooklyn in the first game of a double-header with the Cardinals after it had reached 33 contests, but the St. Louis mauler came back in the second tilt with a brace of homers that brought this season's total to 39, tying Ken Williams of the Browns. The Dodgers annexed the first, 6 to 1, and the Cardinals the second, 13 to 7.

Two Slugging Matches.
The Philadelphia Nationals took two slugging matches from the Chicago Cubs, 9 to 8 and 11 to 1, while Cincinnati scored a double triumph over the Boston Braves, 9 to 3 and 6 to 5.

The White Sox climbed to within a game and a half of Detroit in third place by taking a hard fought twin bill from the Athletics 1 to 0 and 3 to 2. Cleveland captured its second doubleheader in two days from Boston 5 to 2 and 5 to 4 and uncovered another rookie twirling star in Budgood giant Chattanooga recruit, who won the second contest.

WORLD SERIES COMPARISONS Of Probable Contenders—Second Base

FRISCH

By Billy Evans
Frisch, New York Giants—Played third base for the Giants last year and did a fine job of it. Was shifted to second when McGraw secured Heinie Groh from Cincinnati.

Frisch is one of the greatest ball players that has broken into the majors in years. Came direct from Fordham College to the big show and achieved greatness overnight. Frisch is playing second even better than he did third.

Frisch is a very fast man. Prefers to bat left handed, but can turn around to suit the pitching. He is a great hitter and is constantly improving. Has a wonderful arm.

Ward, New York Americans—Ward is a much better ball player than often given credit for. Is a clever fielder and a good thrower. Is at his best on difficult chances. When he slips up, it is usually on what would be called an easy chance. Played great ball in the series last year, despite his error in one game that cost that contest.

Ward is a right-handed batter and takes a mean cut at the ball. He is always dangerous.

McManus, St. Louis Browns—McManus is destined to become a great second baseman. He has almost reached that point of efficiency already. After being tried at third and short by the Browns, he was sent in at second as a last resort. He immediately proved that second base is for him.

WARD

In a little over a year McManus has developed into a cracking good second baseman. He is improving every day. Few players in the history of the majors have come faster. He is speedy, has a good arm and plenty of nerve. He hits right handed and does it well. Keep your eye on Marty McManus.

The honors at third base to Frisch of the New York Giants.

If New York Clubs Should Lead the Leagues— 'Twould Be Second Repeat In History Of Baseball

BY BILLY EVANS.
If the two New York clubs meet in the 1922 world series it will be only the second time in the history of the sport that repeaters have met in the annual classic.

Back in 1907 the Chicago Cubs won in the National and Detroit in the American.

The Cubs won the series.

The following year the same clubs won the pennant in their respective leagues.

The National League entry again won the series.

Not since that time have repeaters been the contending teams in the big series.

In the National League the New York Giants won the pennant for three consecutive years, 1911, 1912 and 1913.

In the American League Philadelphia has twice repeated and the Boston Red Sox once.

Chicago and New York

The National League has been much more magnanimous in the distribution of its pennants than the American. That makes for more interest than if some certain clubs monopolize the situation.

While New York and Chicago have hogged the limelight in the National since the start of the world series most of the other clubs have had their say at various times.

It is a rather interesting fact that throughout a period of seven years' play, starting in 1913 and ending in 1919, six different clubs in the National League were returned pennant winners.

In 1913 New York won, while in 1914 the Boston Braves, a rank outsider, scored a sensational victory. Pat Moran sprang a big surprise by winning with his Philadelphia club in 1915. Then came the Brooklyn Dodgers. The New York Giants did a comeback in 1917, while Chicago even in 1918 and the Cincinnati Reds the following year.

Thus, over a period of seven years, all the clubs in the National League, with the exception of Pittsburgh and St. Louis, were able to win a pennant.

It seemed certain that Pittsburgh was to reach the goal in 1920 when it went into the last month's play with a seven-game lead, only to fade out before the New York Giants.

Couldn't Make It.

In 1921 the St. Louis Cardinals seemed all set for the big honors. Inability to go West, largely

COLLINS "SIZES UP" YANKS

By Eddie Collins.
World's Greatest Second Baseman
THE Yanks or the Browns?
What a strange contrast they present.

When you go out to see the Yanks play, you expect to see them hit—that's their middle name, and if they don't hit, the result is invariably disappointing from a New York point of view.

No man in the history of baseball has done more to revolutionize the game and make it now a game of swat than Babe Ruth.

It's only natural that the style of play of the Yanks should be likewise. And furthermore, why shouldn't they hit with such individuals as Ruth, Meusel, Pipp, Schang and the rest of the lineup, rather than stick to the old conventional formula of sacrifice or steal?

I know any time any one of the above mentioned sacrificed against the White Sox we are tickled to death, and if we thought we could influence the Babe into dropping down a bunt occasionally we'd instruct our third baseman to play out in left field.

In about two times out of five their slam-bang type of base ball goes astray and it looks like runs thrown away, but on the other hand, three times it succeeds. That's 60 per cent, and that's just their present mark in games won and lost.

Taken individually it's a mystery to me why the Yanks are not out in front a mile.

Strong At Third.
Dugan at third, although acquired late in the season, is as good as the American League can sport. Scott at short, for steadiness, range, brains and nerve, can't be beaten. There are better hitters, but few more dangerous in a pinch. Ward is a most capable second baseman, whose true worth is appreciated more by his teammates than by fan-dom-at-large, which is also true of Wallie Pipp at first.

This fellow Pipp has played wonderful ball this year, both at bat and in the field, and I think he's one of the most underrated ballplayers of today.

While Ruth and Meusel are not the best outfielders in baseball, their offensive ability more than makes up for any discrepancies they may have on the defense.

In the battery department the Yanks are unquestionably better fortified than any team in baseball. Bush and Schang is a combination pretty hard to beat. Shawkey is enjoying one of his best years, and Sam Jones, I am confident, if given a crack at a world series game, would be an awful tough bird to beat.

The Browns, on the contrary, are an entirely different kind of a ball club. Force of necessity makes them so. Their one and only dependable pitcher, Shocker, has carried them about every third day for the past two months, and on the other days it has been a question of "get 'em out" the best way possible, usually two or three, sometimes four, assisting. But they are still up there and going strong.

For sheer offensive strength, I doubt if the Browns are eclipsed at all by the Yanks, and I am satisfied they apply their hits to better advantage than their New York rivals.

Like the Giants, the Yanks' style of play is less disconcerting to an opponent, and 19 times out of 20, you are pretty sure what they are going to do. The Browns, on the other hand, have you guessing half the time.

Hardest to Put Out
For the Sox, Tobin is the hardest man to put out in the American League. He is the most versatile man at the plate I've ever seen. Bunt or "drag" slug or walk, he gets on some way more than his .550 (on better) average would seem to indicate. Foster, acquired by the Browns by the waiver route late in August, is still the best hit-and-run man in the American League and surely is in a sweet spot, hitting behind Tobin. They with Sisler—who now stands alone above all in all departments of play—coming up third, I'll say the Browns are off to a "mean" start.

But the beauty of this batting order is that there isn't a weak spot in it. Williams, possibly the new home-run king, but who, outside of his slugging, needs only confidence in himself, is destined to be one of baseball's leading hitters. Jacobson, together with dependable Hank Severoid, seems to have the happy faculty of clotting the life out of pitchers who are able to stop Sisler and his fellow left-handers.

INDIANS DIE IN PRAIRIE FIRE

Cardston, Alberta, Sept. 21.—Several Indians are believed dead and property damage in excess of $200,000 was caused by a prairie fire which swept through the Blood Indian reservation last night.

The fire burned over thousands of acres of grazing lands. The Indians believed lost in the flames were members of a crew employed in the burned over district.

THREE STILL CAPTURED IN BURLEIGH CO.

Officers Bring Cream Can Stills, Mash and Moonshine To City as Evidence

Three stills were confiscated by federal prohibition agents and Sheriff Welch who returned today from a trip north of Arena, it was announced by the officers. They said they found the following:

Still at home of Fred Binder, 10 miles north of Arena, where a still also was confiscated August 25; still at home of Alex Neff, six miles north of Arena, and still at home of Philip Miller, five miles north of Arena.

All were cream can stills. Only the one on Binder's place was found in operation. At Miller's place the coil was found in a strawstack and at Neff's the coil was found in a granary. Some moonshine was confiscated. The stills were brought to Bismarck.

The men will be prosecuted under state laws, officials said.

Making New Markets With Printer's Ink

One of the most striking changes of the past ten years is that which has come about in the important business of housekeeping. In this short time the broom and the washboard have vanished from the housewife's coat of arms, and the comic pictures in which Mary hurls the flatiron at John don't ring true, as they once did.

Broom, washboard and flatiron have given way to suction sweeper, electric washing machine and electric iron. And Mary doesn't hurl the iron at John any longer, not simply because it's fastened to a cord, but because she's taking no chances with it.

What has brought about this new and agreeable state of affairs? Well, how did Mary happen to buy that new iron which has proved such a boon to herself—and John? She saw it advertised, of course. And the multiplied Marys of today represent a great market created largely through national advertising.

No wonder the alert retailer and the wholesaler have come to hold national advertising in high esteem—for besides making easier for them the sale of goods with long-established markets, quickening their turnover, protecting them against inferior merchandise and benefiting them in many other ways, national advertising is constantly creating markets for new merchandise and opening up new channels of trade.

It is because America reads advertising that the new idea today so swiftly supplants the old. Advertising changes deep-rooted habits. Advertising creates new desires. Advertising sets new and better standards. And all this it does with amazing swiftness—for advertising speaks to millions simultaneously.

The safety razor, the player piano, massage cream, the glass baking dish, wall board, fireproof roofing, the talking machine, soap flakes, canned soup—one could go on indefinitely extending the list of products which today testify to the ability of national advertising to create new merchandise demands.

There is probably no industry today for which advertising has not blazed new trails. There is no merchant, wholesale or retail, the scope of whose business it has not greatly widened.

But the main thing which advertising does for the retailer is to speed up his turnover; that's what makes him a profit.

MIGRATION TO DAKOTA SHOWN IN 'WHO'S WHO'

Most Names of Dakotans Listed Are Men Who Have Moved West

SOME OF ALIEN BIRTH

Investigation of the birthplaces of North Dakotans, considered of enough importance to be mentioned in "Who's Who in America" to see if there is disclosed any unusual facts concerning the "drift" of peoples into the state does little more than to confirm the westward pilgrimage of the peoples. Two of the eighty men listed were born to the west of this state. The others, without exception, came along eastern trails to their habitation in the Dakotas.

It is quite largely a New England migration. New York state contributed eight and Michigan seven, being possible to conceive that these were descendants of the Dutch settlers of New Amsterdam but all the others come from New England states or from the states where the New England colonies sent their young children in the gradual building of a nation.

Illinois leads in the largest number of North Dakota's notables, nine having been born there. New York contributed eight, Michigan seven, Minnesota and Wisconsin six, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Ohio five each. Iowa sent four sons here to become leaders, while Vermont and Missouri sent two each. One each of men who have achieved some notable place came from New Hampshire, Maryland, Idaho, Maine, Montana, Massachusetts, Virginia, South Dakota and New Jersey. While North Dakota has mothered eight men who are listed in who's who, but one of the eight now claims the state as his residence, this being Congressman C. B. Burdick of Grand Forks.

Foreign lands represented. Foreign lands contributed ten of the eighty men, Norway having been the birthplace of two, England of two, Canada of two, while Switzerland, Ireland, Holland and Chile each is represented by one son.

That North Dakota's notables followed the advice of Horace Greeley of "Go West, Young Man," is shown by the fact that the statistics of their marriages in very different from their births. Fifteen waited until they reached North Dakota before taking a wife, Minnesota furnished the helpmates for eleven. Illinois eight, while only three of the eight born there were also married there.

Four of the men traveling westward were married in Ohio and Michigan, while five found their life's companion in Iowa, New York, Indiana, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania sent three wives each to the state, while Missouri was the place of marriage of two. One marriage was consummated in West Virginia, South Dakota, Tennessee, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Texas, Kansas, Maryland, Rhode Island, Nebraska, Vermont and Kentucky, while one North Dakotan found his wife in Germany while a student there.

Education statistics also disclose that the men listed came during the early years of their life. All but two of the men listed had some years of education in school above that of the common school. The two not so favored advanced their education in law offices, the early day method of becoming a barrister. Seventy-three of the eighty men have baccalaureate degrees, or at least three years of college work. Some of these baccalaureate degrees were taken so far back in collegiate history that they represent but one year of law.

Advanced Degrees Recorded. Many advanced degrees are recorded but the baccalaureate degrees, as representing the school of primary education has been taken as the indication of the college preference of North Dakota's leaders.

No one school can claim a large preference in the matter of prominence of its graduates. Seven of the men hold their degrees from the University of North Dakota. The University of Michigan educated seven, and the University of Minnesota. The others are scattered over the breadth of the country, the University of Indiana having two graduates, Illinois two, Wisconsin two, Oberlin College two, Valparaiso two, Thiel Seminary two, and Brown University two. The school having one man on the state's list are: Virginia Theological, Michigan Agricultural, Cornell College, University of Iowa, University of Missouri, George Washington, Dartmouth, Washington University, Des Moines College (now Des Moines University), Washington State College, DePaul University, University, Hamline, Northwestern University, Chicago University, Yankton College, University of Pennsylvania, Augsburg Seminary, University of South Dakota, Purdue University, Augsburg Seminary, University of South Dakota, Purdue University, Yale University, Ohio Wesleyan, Hamilton College, Wm. Jewell, Villanova, Cornell University, Syria-

HELD FOR SLAYING AGED MAN

CLARA SKARIN WINBORN

By NEA Service

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 21.—For one month Clara Skarin Winborn became a "dead man" and, according to police, carried on the life of the she is alleged to have slain. She wrote his letters, so the story goes; signed his name to them; arranged his collections and attended to business in general; consulted with his lawyer and forwarded his mail when he "went on a business trip." All this while the corpse lay in an adjoining room.

Such are the alleged details in connection with the year-old mystery over the slaying of Ferdinand Hochbrunn, 70, wealthy recluse and realty man of Seattle, Wash.

Clara Winborn was arrested in Oakland. She refuses to talk about the case, saying simply, "I will tell my story to the jury." Police, it is said, have a confession she is purported to have signed, admitting the shooting and a desire to possess the dead man's property, but holding that she shot to defend her honor from the advances of the old man.

LUTHER BURBANK HOPES SAME LAWS OF PLANT BREEDING CAN BE APPLIED ALSO TO HUMANS

Santa Rosa, Cal., Sept. 14.—If fulfillment comes to the hopes and ideals of Luther Burbank, foremost plant breeder of the world, history also will record his influence in the development of better men, as well as better plants, for he regards improvement of mankind as a greater work than improvement of plant species.

"I hope that the same laws, as far as practicable, which I have discovered and demonstrated in plant life will be applied to the improvement of human life," said the dean of plant scientists in his Santa Rosa home.

"This in a measure, can, must and will be done," he asserted. Although every possible minute of Burbank's day is given to his plant experiments, he is glad to give time to civic affairs, specially to the Boy Scouts, playground activities and school doings, for in these he sees the beginning of the application to mankind of his principles of plant breeding.

"My time is all too short to do all I wish and hope yet to do," he says. The improvement of plants, according to Burbank, is in its earliest infancy, but "the possibilities are limitless," he declares.

"In mechanics and electricity great progress already has been made, but, as every scientist knows, it is hardly a beginning," says Burbank, in comparing mechanical and plant knowledge.

After sixty years of plant breeding he enunciates the principle "Plants are pliable and amenable to the will of man, but this has never been surmised by the general public until the last twenty-five years."

PUDDING PROOF IS IN EATING

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating." The proof of a cow is in the testing. Farmers of the Bismarck-Kidder County Breeding-Testing Association, organized under the supervision of the State Dairy Department, are now refusing to keep cows—but are feeding only those cows which will keep themselves and yield a profit besides.

The results of testing were forcefully depicted by the float in Bismarck's Pageant parade. The Holstein cow in the float, with a production of 489 lbs. of fat made, in butter equivalent, gave over six times the butter secured from the Red cow, which had only 78 lbs. fat to her credit. The fat production of each cow was represented in tubs of butter, carried separately with each individual. For the profitable cow it took ten and one-third 60 pound tubs to represent her production (in butter) whereas the 'boarder's' production could have been packed into 12-3 tubs.

The owner of the red cow had learned her worthlessness as a dairy cow and will send her to the butcher, but as one observing farmer remarked when the float passed by: "It looks bad for that old red cow but I suppose there are scrub cows in all breeds, regardless of their color."

MIGRATORY BIRDS MAKE LONG TRIPS

Biological Survey Finds That They Travel at Least 3,000 Miles

Washington, Sept. 20.—How far will a migratory bird travel in its fall and spring flights? The Biological Survey has determined that they make flights of at least 3,000 miles.

An investigation has been conducted for several years by the Survey by trapping ducks and other strong winged fowl in northern sections, and marking them with light bands bearing a serial number and the legend, "Biol. Surv., Wash., D. C." The numbers on the fowl are recorded and from time to time, hunters bagging some of those marked, report where and when the bird was brought down.

More than two hundred such birds were loosed with the bands from Lake Scugog, in Ontario, about 20 miles north of Toronto, and many reports have been received. So far, the record flight is that of a blue-winged teal, banded September 24, 1920, and killed two months and seven days later in a swamp near Port of Spain, on the Island of Trinidad. The shortest possible flight the bird could of taken to reach this point, which is the coast of Venezuela, is 3,000 miles.

In tracing their routes it seemed apparent that the mallards and black ducks travelled together and their course from Lake Scugog was southward along the shores of Lake Erie by way of the St. Clair flats. Here the route divided, the majority continuing southwest, crossing the Ohio, and then to the Mississippi Valley where the majority wintered.

The others took a southeasterly route, crossing the Alleghenies and reaching the Atlantic coast by way of Chesapeake and Delaware Bays. None of the banded birds were taken.

MOTOR CAR ACCIDENTS ON INCREASE

(By the Associated Press)

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Despite the passage of numerous ordinances and the adoption of traffic regulations in the larger cities of the country in an effort to curb accidents from motor cars, reports from more than a dozen of the metropolitan cities of the middle west show an increase in the number of accidents for the first six months of 1922, compared with the same period of 1921.

This increase has caused city officials to prescribe drastic rules in governing motor traffic in an endeavor to lessen danger in modern traveling. Several of the cities are shown to be waging war on the speeder, in many cases imprisonment being added to fines by municipal judges. Adoption of rules in turning at street intersections, elimination of glaring headlights and educational campaigns are other methods used in many cities in the campaign against accident.

In Chicago in 1921, deaths attributed to motor accidents totaled 575 as compared with 475 in 1920. Non-fatal accidents totaled 8,687 in 1921, and 7,085 in 1920. During the first four months of 1922, non-fatal accidents totaled 2,533.

Forty-three persons were killed and 1,065 injured in automobile accidents in Cleveland from February

1, to August 1, 1922. To offset this, workhouse sentences have been imposed upon speeders and reckless drivers, no one under 18 years of age may drive a car and second offense for failure to have lights burning results in arrest, no matter what the circumstance.

To curb accidents in St. Louis, where sixty-two were killed during the first six months of this year and 1,327 were injured, an educational campaign has been started, one-way traffic has been established in congested districts during business hours, automobiles must come to complete stop at all boulevards, must not pass a street car discharging passengers and must not exceed eight miles an hour in the congested districts and twenty miles in the residential districts.

Defolt's attempts to increase safety are the adoption of the tower system of regulating traffic and the establishment of safety zones for street car passengers. Another ordinance requires all persons to be able to drive an automobile under all conditions before being granted a state driver's license. Seventy persons were killed there during the first six months of 1922, and 1,921 were injured.

Strict enforcement of speed laws and frequent jail sentences for speeders and reckless drivers has been the method adopted in Indianapolis for increasing safety. In down-town sections traffic officers direct pedestrians while others direct street traffic.

In Oklahoma City, most of the main traveled streets have been designated boulevards and before crossing these motorists are required to come to a complete stop. Heavy white "stop" signs painted on the pavement at these intersections remind the driver.

An "unwritten law" is in effect in Louisville where police court judges assess a fine of $2 for each mile an hour above the speed limit. Penitentiary sentence under charge of manslaughter is provided for drivers found responsible for deaths resulting from accidents. Cars must be under full control at all street intersections.

Milwaukee has barred the left hand turn and instituted a jay-walking ordinance requiring pedestrians to cross streets at intersections. Automobiles on prescribed thoroughfares are given right-of-way over all traffic crossing such streets.

POTATO RATES ARE REDUCED

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 21.—Rates on potatoes from all points in North Dakota to all points east of the Indiana-Illinois state line have been reduced, it was announced today by H. B. Fuller, secretary of the North Dakota Farm Bureau federation. The reduction is greater in western North Dakota than in the east, the reduction ranging from 6 cents per hundred at Fargo, to 12 cents in the extreme western part of the state.

This reduction is also effective in Minnesota, but in that state ranges from one cent per bushel at Princeton and up, the reduction being greater to western points. Princeton is the farthest point east to which the rates apply in Minnesota. The reduction followed lower rates put into effect from Colorado points east.

Call Fire Department To Fight Prairie Fire

Aberdeen, S. D., Sept. 21.—At 2 o'clock today both units of the Aberdeen fire department were called to a farm 2 miles South of this city to aid in fighting a prairie fire which is threatening wide area, including several farms. About thirty haystacks are reported on fire. Two hundred men, about half of which were attending an auction sale near the scene of the fire, are endeavoring to extinguish the blaze. A South breeze makes the situation even more dangerous.
